

A Tribute

Marjorie Russell

From Doris Littlejohn

Marjorie worked at the University for sixteen years, retiring in 1996. She began as an assistant in the accommodation department and at the time of her retirement her post was "Head of Accommodation". The post was a demanding one involving a huge variety of accommodation to be administered but Marjorie had an extraordinary ability to build a cohesive and effective team by treating everyone as equally important. She is remembered with great affection by those fellow employees to whom I spoke. She had also been an international badminton player.
